Parents breathe a sigh of relief, youngsters catch their breath with excitement, and teachers just told theirs in anticipation. School started this week!

The relief is short lived for parents because concern does not cease with absence and education carries a heavy dose of parental responsibility and family involvement. Students know, or soon learn, education demands commitment and hard work but one hopes they never lose that initial enthusiasm.

All teachers are aware of the success and failure rates and they realize they are only one part of the educational team. Without that parental cooperation and student desire, their effort will be limited.

Five generations were on hand to help Charles and Iola Tweddell celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary recently. Twenty-five family members joined them for dinner at the Redwood in Naples. Following dinner, more than 75 friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tweddell for cake and ice cream. The golden anniversary couple will have been married 50 years on Sept. 11.

Gene and Joanne Baird celebrated their wedding anniversary on Saturday at the wedding of their son, Richard, and Marica Hemmer of Dansville. As Gene said at the church, "one hour and many years ago."

The next meeting of the Haunted House committee at the United Methodist Church will be Sept. 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the church. Anyone age 16 or over who would like to be involved will be welcomed at this meeting.

Rev. Vararuchi Dalvai of Hyderabad, India, will be at the United Methodist Church on Wednesday and Thursday this week. Rev. Dalvai is in charge of the Bible Club Movement for Southeast Asia, greatly influenced by the E. Stanley Jones Christian Ashram (Retreat Movement of India.) A tureen supper was held Wednesday evening, followed by a service. On Thursday (today), there will be a service at 7:30 p.m.

G. Ray Dymont, financial planner-investments, will be the guest speaker of Friends Unlimited Wednesday, Sept. 16. Save the date for their dance on Oct. 24 at the Legion with Chicken Wired Band providing the music. Call 728-2198 for information about this group for singles.

The Wayland Golden Agers will meet at St. Paul's UCC today with doors open at 2:30 p.m. and a covered dish dinner at 5:30 p.m. Beatrice and Merle Wheaton of Cohocton will give a slide presentation "Traveling the Marcus Whitman Trail to Oregon" following dinner. Plans will be completed and it will be the final sign-up for the trip to the Genesee Country Museum at Mumford.

Don and Nellie Gladly will lead the committee assisted by Guy Bennett, Emma Ackly, Naomi Clayton, Rose Schirmer, and Bob and Alice Wood. Those age 55 and up are invited to participate. Call 728-5529 for information or if you need a ride.

The Class of '77 had its 10th year reunion Saturday night at Anne Finn's/Bryant Hotel with a good time had by all. Dinner was followed by dancing to the Donovan Bros. Band.

The Splashmasters send birthday greetings to members. Helen Alpaugh, Nina Atwater, Loleita Edgerton, and Diane Teed and get well wishes to Roberta Johnston and thanks for all her hard work during the art show and throughout the year.

Movies directed to teenage audiences will be the topic of discussion in a four-part series to be held at St. Joseph's cafeteria starting Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m. Parents of junior high students are encouraged to take a hard look at the way families are portrayed in these movies and may want to ask themselves if this is a realistic interpretation of family life in our country.

Junior Johnston was recently the surprise guest of honor at a birthday party at the Fire Hall given by friends, family and members of the Senior Citizens and Fire Department.

"Legacy" by James Michener is available at the Wayland Library. It is a novel as timely as today and as timeless as truth and justice with biological portraits that provide and eloquent lesson in American History.

St. Paul's fish dinner is Friday, Sept. 18 at Wayland Central School. Homemade pies will top off your dinner for dessert!

The Wayland and Cohocton Lions Clubs will have a joint meeting and steak roast at the Cohocton Club on Kirkwood Road tonight.

"Talk It Over" and Storyhour will be held at the Wayland Library this Friday at 10:30 a.m. Storyhour is a wonderful experience for the three to five year old. Father Schnacky will talk to parents of young children on the subject of "Parents Need Love and Attention Too" in another part of the library.

Reservations for all Girl Scout volunteers, past and present, in the Wayland School district, are limited and must be received by Sept. 25. Call 728-5632 for more information.

The Rosary Society will meet for the first time this year on Wednesday, Sept. 16. A tureen supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. and a speaker from Faith Haven in Naples will present a program.

Rafael Gonzales would like to see senior citizens in the area take a stand on the recent bill before the United States Senate on Medicare. He has detailed information on the subject if you would like to contact him about it.

Although Nepal had only an estimated 50 heroine addicts 10 years ago, the number since has grown to 15,000 in the capital of Kathmandu alone, involving one in every 20 young men there, says National Geographic.

Expect Wayland Operation to Remain on Same Track Gunlocke Company to Have New Owner

Ownership of the Gunlocke Co. in Wayland is changing hands.

The present owners have agreed to sell the firm to the Chicago Pacific Corp., according to an announcement by Phil Jones, vice-president for administration. The sale is expected to have little immediate impact on the operation, he said.

Jones said the sale is "essentially complete" but must be approved by the Federal Trade Commission before it is finalized.

later in September. He did not outline financial details on the sale which has been under negotiation for about six weeks.

"We expect that for almost all employees of the company, the transition will be transparent," Jones explained. "In terms of employment, I think it will have a minimal impact on our current work force. We don't see anything but good things coming out of this. Being part of a larger organization can do nothing but benefit Gunlocke."

Chicago Pacific owns the Hoover and Rowenta companies which manufacture vacuum cleaners and other home products. Last year, it acquired the Kittinger, Pennsylvania House and McGuire furniture companies which had total sales of $111 million in 1986. The corporation's total sales for the year exceeded $900 million.

Jones went on to explain that Gunlocke was a "perfect fit" for Chicago Pacific plans to create a "market-dominant furniture group," which is a point expressed by an official from Chicago Pacific. The Gunlocke firm, which employs 1,015 people at plants in Wayland and Avon and markets office furniture and paneling, was sought out because of its "good performance and good products," Jones said.

Sales this year for the privately-owned firm, which turned a profit in each of the past few years, are expected to total $60 million. New product lines may be introduced at Gunlocke in the future but nothing firm has been planned. "I'm sure we'll be looking to expand because the Chicago Pacific Corp. is committed to growth—profitable growth," Jones explained.

He also said it's unlikely the Gunlocke name will be changed because it has a very excellent reputation in the market. In addition, he said, changes in company management are not planned.
